Forget boring texts, cramming irregular verbs or monotonous tests - PLI training is maximally tailored to the age and interests of young people, each student is actively involved in work and discussions, and the classroom environment is relaxed and friendly.

All teachers are native speakers, and from the first lesson students are completely immersed in the language environment, communicating immediately only in a foreign language. The educational and entertainment program are closely linked, so you will always learn something new and practice what you have learned in a playful way.

An entire floor of classrooms, equipped with everything necessary for classes, recreation, and social areas. The school is conveniently located in the historical centre of the city. All classes are equipped with climate control and projectors, free wi-fi is available to students.

Upon arrival, all students undergo written and oral testing, and are divided into small (up to 15 people) groups according to knowledge levels. The training materials are designed specifically for our summer school using the case studies method. At the end of the course, students defend their research projects, and the best of them receive valuable prizes. Our team

A large team of coordinators, teachers, methodologists and, of course, group-leaders work on the camp program, all of whom undergo serious selection and training.

Without our cool group leaders - the most responsible, funny, sincere and able to find a common language with students of all ages, it is impossible to imagine our PLI camp. Many of them are graduates of our school who study at the best universities in Prague and can talk about their personal experience of admission and study.

All participants are divided into squads by age, and each squad is always accompanied by two or three group leaders who tirelessly monitor compliance with the schedule, find the most non-trivial routes around the city and, of course, help with solving any issues, whether it's going to a doctor or finding the cheapest souvenirs and purchases. Also, the counsellors live in the residence with the students and monitor compliance with discipline and rules.

It is not surprising that after just two weeks of the program, students with tears in their eyes part with their leaders and keep in touch with them for a long time after the camp.
